DIVINE WOMAN AWAKENING

Welcome, Beloved ...

As an ordained Celtic Priestess, Amanda carries a deep devotion to the Divine, allowing her to love fiercely and serve as a mother to her two children, her community, and her beloved students. Amanda has embraced the guidance of Priestesses from various traditions worldwide. Through her studies, she has woven together diverse strands of spirituality into a harmonious tapestry.

Amanda leads ceremonial rites of passage within her local community, awakening intuitive gifts and helping her students heal and thrive. Her passion is guiding people back home to themselves, their ancestors, and their sacred lands, and unlocking their inner magic. Amanda's work encompasses various aspects, including womb healing, Celtic Paganism, and Druid practices.

She works intimately with the Goddesses and with the powerful dragon and serpent energies. Her work is considered mystical, spiritual, and practical to apply in the modern day.

Amanda Sophia is also a Feng Shui Expert and Geomancer with over 20 years of experience and more than 30,000 clients served. She founded the International Feng Shui School and the various training programs it runs, including the Divine Woman Awakening program where she guides women on a year-long journey through The Celtic Wheel, helping them discover, cultivate, and embody their authentic wisdom and power through ancient rituals.

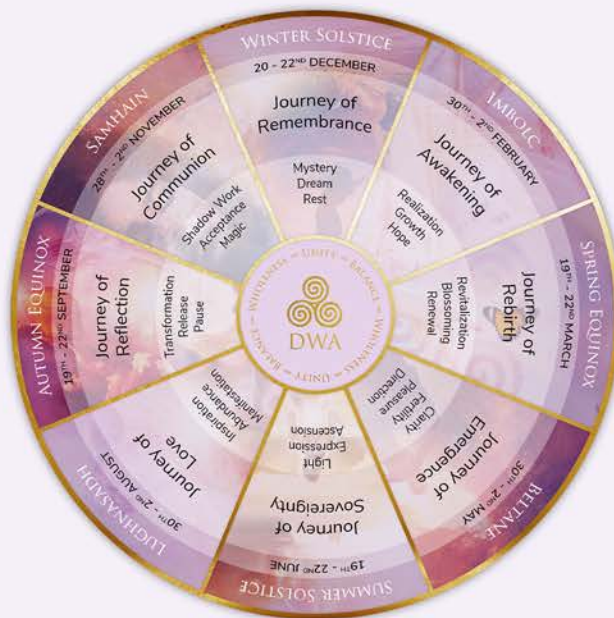

Her expertise has been sought by notable clients such as Bloomingdale's, Dreamworks, Bank of America, and Hewlett-Packard, all of whom have reported breakthroughs through her Feng Shui consulting. She has been featured in various media outlets, including Vogue, Yoga Journal, Spirit and Destiny, Irish Examiner, RTE, Fox News, and KSWB-TV.

Amanda invites anyone, regardless of their background, to access her teachings, resources, and online community, offering a safe space of inclusivity, support, and transformation. From the holistic blend of a lighthearted and fun approach to the deepened spiritual and ancient practices that Amanda teaches, she honors everyone in their journey and welcomes them to embrace healing and come home to themselves for the ultimate unique transformation rooted in their birthright.

The Celtic Wheel

Everything is connected to everything, everything is made up of energy and we can see the interlinkage once we start observing the seasons, looking towards Mother Nature to guide us.

Flowing with Mother Nature can allow you to improve your menstrual cycles, heal your womb, regulate your emotions, cultivate your inner magic, find your soul's tribe, improve the energetic frequency in body and life, open your chakras, and allow your spiritual eye to be open to the beauty in everyday rituals.

It is such a powerful tool once you've connected deeply with the Mother, that every day you find guidance through the seasons and the voices of the mountains, trees, and rivers.

You'll learn to listen to Her, and by listening to Her you will inadvertently listen to your own heart calling for you.

Winter Solstice

Goddess: The Cailleach

Awakening the Inner Visionary and Remembrance

Northern Hemisphere: December 19th - December 22nd
Southern Hemisphere: June 19th - June 22nd

DIVINE WOMAN AWAKENING

The Cailleach

The Cailleach, Goddess of Mystery, dreaming, reflection, wisdom, and shadows.

She is the Integration and Sovereignty. 'Cailleach' means 'veiled one', queen of winter, the oldest goddess. As the veiled one in the quiet dark of winter, she rules the hidden worlds, reigning over our dreams and inner realities.

She is the Guardian of the life force, finding & nourishing the seeds, commanding the power of life and death. She is all-powerful and ageless, sovereign and great. Before anyone could rule the land, they had to first garner her approval, and she is to be both feared and respected. She also cares deeply for animals, both wild and domestic, during the dark winter months. The Cailleach, or Divine Hag, also performs an intermediary role in supernatural encounters between humans and the Otherworld. She can also inhabit places of death.

The Cailleach's Mythology

She once sought the love of a hero, or king, and she often would shapeshift into a beautiful maiden to attract love. At times, though, she would appear in front of kings in her Hag form, testing them on whether or not they could see her light and her gifts shining through. If the king did, it meant that he held the wisdom and love to honor his kingdom.

She would also wear a large apron filled with ancient rocks and she would skip from mountain to mountain, dropping the them into place as cairns and standing stones.

What The Cailleach activates within you

She opens your intuition and invites you to listen to your inner guidance, opening you up to a greater wisdom, both from within and from above. She activates a grounding and deepening connection in your relationship with the land.

The Cailleach supports you in your transitions of womanhood and menopause. Especially, she activates the confidence to step into your Crone self.

DIVINE WOMAN AWAKENING

Calling on The Cailleach

If you decide to work with her, you commit to exploring areas of your life that need healing and union.

Call upon The Cailleach when you are at a time of transformation, listening and wanting to gain greater clarity. If there are aspects of your life that cause you fear, you can call upon her to bring them to the forefront so you can work through them.

She is powerful and will come in with her tools to cause the chaos and destruction needed for you to break through old patterns and truly transform your life.

Cailleach blessing

May the Cailleach reach into all the areas of transformation and transition in your life and guide you into peaceful change.

May she activate your intuition, allowing you to hear your heart and listen to Divine guidance on a deeper and more intimate level than ever before.

May the Winter Solstice be a time of spiritual hibernation, where you rely on your previous harvests to lead you through the cold. May the Cailleach make you aware of the changes necessary before the next season erupts with light and the promise of warmth.

DIVINE WOMAN AWAKENING

Dear Divine

You are worthy of celebration, healing and abundance

You are not the sum of your fears or missteps

You are a divine priestess who's worth rests in your existence alone

You are not weak, nor are you fragile

You are a microcosm of magic, a palace erected by the strength of ancient women

You are SEEN. You are recognized for the power you hold

You are supported by the guides, the stars, the goddesses, and the ancients

You are not unworthy of receiving love, nor incapable of giving it

You are as intimately loved as the stars are b
the ebony night sky

You are unconditionally loved

You are LOVE itself

And you are never without it
